Thank You

Since there are no quotes around those words, you know that's not the title of the sermon this Sunday. It's as simple as its writer – this "old Corolla" can't conjure up any more memorable and meaningful words than those.

My own words aren't there, but I can rely on those of others. First of all, the words of Paul that you heard last Sunday as he was writing to his favorite church in Philippi – "I thank my God every time I remember you, constantly praying with joy in every one of my prayers for all of you, because of your sharing in the gospel from the first day until now."

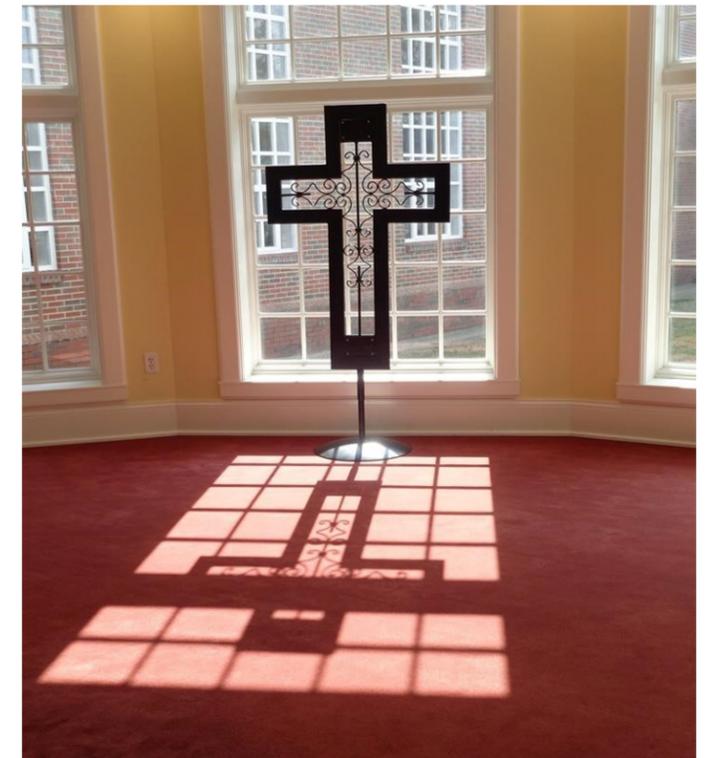

I will, indeed, thank God every time I remember you and I will do so with great joy in my heart.

I'll also turn to those words that you heard Drew sing at the conclusion of the service – words of David Bailey in a song he entitled "Benediction." When I first gave thought to my final service with you, I immediately talked to Drew and told him that I had no idea what else would be included in the service, but I wanted him to close it with that song because it perfectly conveyed my thoughts of all of you.

*It's time for me to go,
Now I need you to know,
This final song is yours
It's the tide between our shores,
And wherever I may be
I will carry you with me,
You're a kaleidoscope of love & joy & hope,
And shining on your face
I see his amazing grace
So I never will forget
(These many years) that we have met
And if you believe in his endless love
We'll meet again someday above.*

The Apostle Paul and David Bailey have a way with words. All I can come up with is, again, Thank You.

Blessings,
Dennis

“So, what do we do about....”

Last week, we promised to share some suggestions with you in regard to questions you may have as our period of pastoral transition begins. You may wonder who to call if you have questions or information regarding certain areas. Obviously, the place to start will be with the church office. Someone will be able to direct your concerns to the appropriate person.

In the event of a death or hospitalization or health issue, you can call the church office during regular office hours. You can also call Trey Fulkerson, our Youth Director and Pastoral Assistant (812-604-8779) or Barb Ferguson (812-453-0559). Trey and Barb will be making hospital visits and will be available in emergency situations and will be able to assist you in finding additional help in particular areas. We will continue to update you regarding questions you may have and as we all work together, we will make this time of transition a positive experience for everyone!

In the News!

Congratulations to Susan Parsons on receiving the Athena Award.

The Athena Award honors women leaders in Southwest Indiana by reflecting on the importance of women in the community. The women selected for this award are exceptional leaders in the Evansville area and have actively and generously assisted others in the attainment of professional excellence and leadership skills.

Great job Susan!

Dear Church Family,

Thank you from the entire staff for your generosity that was shown to us this past Sunday. Each of us feels it a great privilege to be working with such outstanding people here at Eastminster. Your thoughtfulness is appreciated.

Sincerely,
The EPC Staff

Dear Church Family,

We wish to say “thank you” to my friends and church family for your prayers, cards, and visits during my illness and loss of my beloved grandson, Carlton C. Mans. A special “thank you” goes to the Reverend Dr. Dennis R. Davenport for his compassion, spiritual support, and the many, many visits. My family and I could not have endured the pain and heartache without him. He will never be forgotten.

H2O Project

As we approach the season of Lent, we begin to think about what to give up. Just as Christ gave his life for us so that we might have new life in Him, we mark this time of year as a time to commit to letting go of something. Maybe a particular food or drink? Maybe a behavior or habit? Maybe a particular thought pattern? Our hope is that the absence of this thing will afford us the time to focus more on deepening our relationship with Jesus.

Each year, as a church, we commit to letting go of the money that we spend on our favorite beverages and drinking water. Then, we offer the money we save by not purchasing our favorite beverages to an organization called Living Water, Intl. in support of building wells in other countries. Water is an integral part of a healthy community. Let's continue this great tradition and offer our support of the children of God worldwide through the ministry of Living Water, Intl. More information to come next week!
