Exploring Eastminster

Well, we checked out the basement last time, now let's go up to the attic. Yes, we have one, and now is a good time to check it out because it's freezing up there in the Winter and stifling in the Summer, just like at home! It's up the East staircase, past the beautiful stained-glass window and cross, to the second floor. The door is to the right, opposite the door to the hallway and second floor classrooms. The light switch is very low on the door post, so you must feel around a little to find it. Then you must be careful stepping in because the floor is at a different level. But once you're in, the ceiling is high down the center, then slopes sharply toward the walls.

But why go up there? Well, maybe no reason, unless you're on a committee or a member of a group and your "stuff" is stored there. Storage space is the use for the area and, in theory, the room is divided into sections which are allotted to any group or organization within the church needing space.

Right now several sections are identified: Maintenance, Outreach and Small Groups, EPW, Youth, and what clearly must be Christian Education although their sign is gone. There is a section labeled Easter, and the cross is there. Then there are the Christmas trees and decorations. and finally, at the very back – which would be the front of the building actually, above the kitchen entry doors – are the Church's older records, stored neatly along the floor in labeled banker's boxes. There is a small round vent high on that wall that you first might mistake for a stained-glass window, but no. It's just a vent.

That's it. Not much to see, but an asset for those who need it.

Our own Betty Richard is turning 104 on May 18! We would like to surprise her with a flood of birthday cards. Her address is 4211 Grimm Rd, Newburgh, IN 47630.
